

Elementary and Middle Level Principals Council – 3.23.17

“Perhaps our clearest finding is that the project was a site for learning and relationships in which many young people assumed powerful public identities. Their sense of their ‘proper’ place – whatever that may have been- was replaced with the certainty that they had a right and the worth to be taken seriously in all matters that affected their communities and education” (Oakes & Rogers, 2006).

Essential Questions:

- How do we effectively lead our schools in creating the best possible learning environment for all students?

Learning Targets: I will be able to...

- Engage in collegial conversation and network with their peers.
